

Belly Up

A Telemetry

born out of nothing captured from the unknown materialized from something derived from earth and stone they saw the future unraveled in their eyes as all those skeptics balked at what they thought were lies

no matter how it's said they continued to harvest
from their thoughts
the idea was too large for small minds to take

they invented the first one everyone thought it couldn't be done
they weren't about to go belly up

they invented the first one
those germs of thought to reality
they weren't about to go belly up

skorn for centuries eccentric and alone living off borrowed time hiding in their catacombs they performed magic with uncanny and resolve changing all our destinies as each new idea evolved

no matter how it's said
they continued to harvest
from their thoughts
the idea was too large
for small minds to take

they invented the first one
everyone thought it couldn't be done
they weren't about to go belly up

they invented the first one
those germs of thought to reality
they weren't about to go belly up wake up and appreciate the men who gave all they could give respect and alleviate from a normal life so many of us live

they invented the first one
everyone thought it couldn't be done
they weren't about to go belly up

they invented the first one
those germs of thought to reality
they weren't about to go belly up

Lyrics submitted by m.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlyrics.com/>