Valentine

Bryan Ferry

Tell me something I must know
The burning question why
Half a man is twice as much
When he's on the lineHappiness hard to get
Valentine in hand
None of them will ever guess
But you understandHow many men in a world of their own
There is no end to great unknownTell me something I must know
I'm outside looking in
Train of mirrors none so fair
Let the show beginHow many men in a world of their own
There is no end to great unknownHow many men in a world of their own
There is no end to great unknown
