She Runs

Tim Halperin

Just when I saw morning coming
I turned my head
To see Karen running...Ever since she was a baby
Karen couldn't sit still
They had to create healthcare
For all the boys that she made ill
Well, sometimes still I wonder
How I got locked in her trap
But with love so good it's no wonder
That I won't be the lastAnd she runs, ooh,
You know it's just begun
And she runs, ooh,
To make you think
About what you've done
And she runs...I've been trying to find her lately,
She's been trying to find herself
And the cracks that break
And the dreams that wake
Keep her from knowing just how to tell
Could this be my future
And could this be my past
Well, Karen's running out of reasons
And I am falling fastAnd she runs, ooh,
And you know it's just begun
And she runs, ooh,
To make you think
About what you've done
And she runs...And she runs, ooh,
You thought you've had enough
And she runs, ooh,
It's the chase that makes it funAnd she runs, ooh,
You thought you've had enough
And she runs, ooh,
To make you think
About what you've done
And she runs...
