

It Could Just Be Love

Teyana Taylor

Give me your love love, give me

You knock me down, my pride hits the ground
Don't know if this is going away
My heartbeat jumps to the tip of my tongue
I think you're wanting to say, come over here

Give me your love love, give me
Give me your love love, give me

Boy you don't know what you're doing to me
Just give me your love love, give me
Right here, don't care

It could just be love, or something like it
Boy I don't know, but I need you right now
It could just be love, or something like it
I think I like it, and I'll know soon enough

I take you in, sweet blissful sin
I'm questioning if you were my religion, no
My heart skips only to the beat of your drum
I can feel your, your rhythm calling me say, yeah

Give me your love love, give me
Give me your love love, give me

It could just be love, or something like it
Boy I don't know, but I need you right now
It could just be love, or something like it
I think I like it, but I'll know soon enough

Struck down, surely there are other victims
Shot down. I'm another victim
Cold blood, you and me here or there
No, I wasn't the only one victim
Peace one, I've never been it
Bible, bible with good intentions

It could just be love, or something like it

Boy I don't know, but I need you right now
It could just be love, or something like it
I think I like it, but I'll know soon enough

Give me your love love, give me
Give me your love love, give me

Give me your love love, give me
Give me your love love, give me
