Stop

Dave Patten

I'm sitting here staring into space
I don't wanna hear anything you say
You have stolen what I wanted
What I needed you took awayYou were the one I honestly believed
You were the one I would've given anything
You were the one who's pushing me away
Telling me it's over, you're telling me you're over itStop, take this away, tell me you love me
Why have you changed?
Won't you just stop; take this away, why don't you love me?
Why did you change?You made me realize what love really means
Trust me I've chosen my words carefully
Selfish, and arrogant, and still you're everything I want
Timeless, you're perfect, got everything to break my heartYou were the one I honestly believed
You were the one I would've given anything
You were the one who's pushing me away
Telling me it's over, you're telling me you're over itStop, take this away, tell me you love me
Why have you changed?
Won't you just stop; take me away, why do I love her?
Why don't I change?I know you're getting tired of fighting love
And I know you're probably ready to give it up
And I know baby you're looking in the wrong place
Baby you're searching for the wrong thingStop, take this away, tell me you love me...

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/