Exoskeletons

Tourniquet

Waiting in fear
My stepfather's prey
Mother's mistake
Now I'm blackmailed not to sayTry to explain
To a starving child
The check's in the mail
But it hasn't arrived
We've got money for weapons
And appeals to crimes
Shadrack of Kenya
May never reach fiveLook around and I will show you now
A world that needs a way out
Look around and I will show you how
A man can gain understandingCan you tell that it's me?
Chemo has arrived
Like a drive-by shooting
Both the good and bad cells dieThe funeral's delayed
Until the newlyweds arrive
They pull him from the car
That she followed behind
State of panic reasoning
Interrupts while she cries
Summons the priest
Can you fit two inside?Time has no respect for man
Rain falls on the good and bad
Though we may not understand
We can choose to watch or extend our handsLook around and I will show you now
A world that needs a way out
Look around and then look at yourself
Because you can help them out
