

She Don't Have to See You

Golden Smog

You always thought in a town this size
That you'll always have a place to hide
But you cant, cant treat your woman right
If you've got another one on the sideShe dont have to see you
She dont have to see you
To see you through youYou used to brag, to all your friends
Go tellin' em all about your other love
But you never thought, you never thought shed been giving away
That very thing, that youve been getting plenty offShe dont have to see you
She dont have to see you
To see you through youShe can tell by the look in your eye
That youve been tellin' her liesShe dont have to see you
To see you through youHow many times you've come home late at night
But you remember all the times, you got caught sneaking in
And your woman, she never said a word
But she knew exactly, where youve beenShe dont have to see you
She dont have to see you
To see you through you
