Wake Up April

The Promise Ring

Wake up April, it'll be summer soon
And you'll be sipping your morning coffee in the afternoon
Walking slowly because there's nowhere to go
But your heart keeps beating so, so, soEveryone in the neighborhood Wishes you well as much as any person could
It's a friendly forever, a forgotten now
So when we don't remember we won't know howWake up April it's been one cruel year
And we all feel better knowing that you're back here
You wouldn't believe it, so I might as well lie
But I almost had to say goodbyeSo wake up America, now they're setting me free
And I've been the next big thing since I can remember me
But I'd take the light air of permanent care
Before perfect hair and heavy stares, before perfect hair and heavy staresThere's a break in the choir double wide, we slipped outside
There's a break in the choir double wide, we slipped outside
There's a break in the choir double wide, we slipped outside
There's a break in the choir double wide, we slipped outsideOut the back door, too wide
Out the back door, too wide
Out the back door

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/