Never Dead

Emily Jane White

Killers lie in wait for innocent blood
To swallow alive some harmless souls
Walking a crooked path, their wicked names will rot
Evil lives in the dark, its right is doing wrong
The torment never ends . . . it never ends
The fire that burns inside
That's blistering their brains
That makes them sacrifice
That's driving them insane
Trapped in this "no man's land"
Where angels dare to tread
Forever banned to the realms
Of the Never Dead
There's no one trust from this grave
Die with those they swear to defend
Feeding on the ones they'll feed off in the end
Evil lives in the dark, its right is doing wrong
The torment never ends . . . it never ends

The fire that burns inside
That's blistering their brains
That makes them sacrifice
That's driving them insane
Trapped in this "no man's land"
Where angels dare to tread
Forever banned to the realms
Of the Never Dead
Death sits before you, to press on is suicide
Life spills out of your body, you wither and die
For the rest of your life in the realms of the Never Dead
The fire that burns inside
That's blistering their brains
That makes them sacrifice
That's driving them insane
Trapped in this "no man's land"
Where angels dare to tread
Forever banned to the realms
Of the Never Dead
