The Walls

The Thermals

The walls I build today
are the walls
I will always depend on to keep you away
the same walls
will make you stay alright, okaythe walls I build for you are the walls we will share they will tear
they will tear us in two they will bury me
on top of youthe walls define me will serve me bindly I tell myself today
but low in my mind
I know in time
the walls too tall to stay they will all decayThe walls I will build you will see
are the walls
to keep you with me
the same walls will set you free
