

No One Can Save You

Elle King

Don't try to say sorry
Don't try to say anything
I gave you my everything
And you threw it all away, away
And I try to build you up
but you just fall, you just fall
And I can't save you no more
No one can save you from yourself
No one can save you
No one can save you from yourself
I called you you but could never come
You broke me up and just left me undone
You showed me who I can't be
So you enjoy your life of lonely misery
And I try to build you up
but you just fall, you just fall
And I can't save you no more
No one can save you from yourself
No one can save you
No one can save you from yourself
