

Only Myself to Blame

Scott Walker

I've walked way past midnight
I've driven for days
I've tried to forget in so many waysI've held other arms
But they don't feel the same
And I've only myself to blameFrom city to city
I still see your face
It follows me 'round, all over the placeI shouldn't look back
But I do just the same
And I've only myself to blameI knew it was love
But when you are young
You think love will come again and againThere's no greater fool
In the fool's hall of fame
And I've only myself to blameI knew it was love
But when you are young
You think love will come again and againThere is no greater fool
In the fool's hall of fame
And I've only myself, only myself
Only myself to blame
