Enter the Idol

Saviour Machine

See the fire burn inside my eyes
See the liar turn inside my soul
Enter the idol, enter the idol
Let me show you casualties unknown
Let me take your hand to dreams unshown
Enter the idol, enter the idol
I've nothing to give, nothing to take
I've no one to run and no one to save
I've no one to strengthen and no one to please
I'd rather die standing then live on my knees
I refuse to believe I'm condemned to deceive
You will see for the truth is embodied in me
Enter the horror, enter the saint, enter the idol
Enter the idol, enter the idol
The peril surrounding resurgence of doubt
The alienation is stranded about
The union of silence has sickened the day
A garden of verses will take me away, take me away
In circles of wisdom, distortion of rage
In grace and in bondage my world is a stage
My instincts insane, my obsessions ordained
My powers increasing in self-righteous vain
Every wolf suffers fleas, every prophet's diseased
Every legend convicted will fall to his knees

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/