

Religious Wind

Samantha Crain

In all my life I never seen
A garden grow without the rain
Baby, I think we're 'bout to defy
The written rules of poetry
Laws of science and society
'Cause all this found its way without a guide
And then the comet shot around
The strings were making faster sounds
All natural forces came to our bed
We were positive and negative
In a foreign land we were natives
In that holy god fearing night
Come on religious wind
I've found you again
He was the ache in my blood
When the sun was comin' up
I cursed its name, I'd had enough
Bein' in such a rush
Let me care for this one
When the city's burnin' down
Could you settle for a smaller town
Do you hate that your heart does not race
And all the while we're swapping cards
And looking for another flaw
In a window we cannot look away
Come on religious wind
I've found you again
He took me through the flood
When water breaks the shield
And all illusions are revealed
That's where my heaven will be
All distressed and unclean
