Skylines

Karmacoda

My love won't look me in the eye it makes me want to cry
And over senseless times the sense returns unwraps me from my fight
This holding pattern tightening forces me to see
I take it all in stride we are entangled you and me

I'm threaded into, embossed across you
Our skyline's inline, we're getting back to
Back to the point we intersect

I'm meeting memories left and right your stillness is my light
Beam into begin with me I'm craving for an even tide
No walking over water, no hanging out to dry
The detail is so bright, we're still entangled you and I

I'm threaded into, embossed across you
Our skyline's inline, we're getting back to
Back to the point we intersect

Ahhh

I'm threaded into, embossed across you
Our skylines are inline, we're getting back to
Back to the point we intersect
Back to the point we intersect
