Frayed

Social Code

I'm a little frayed at the ends
It feels like we're coming unraveled again
Is all this for nothing is everything all just pretend?
Everyday and every night
Time pushes forward and we call behind
The clock keeps on spinning us right back to where we beganAll this time
We keep trying so hard but we can't get it right
I know there's a way to get through this
Just keep holding on and we'll find a way
I know that we can get through this, it's not too lateI'm a little 'fraid this could end
Tied up in knots and I'm wearing thin
The clock keeps on spinning us over and over againAll this time
We keep trying so hard but we can't get it right
I know there's a way to get through this
Just keep holding on and we'll find a way
I know that we can get through this, it's not too lateTime keeps on slipping away and everyday ends up the same way
Each day we're closer and closer to finding a wayI know the way to get through this Just keep holding on and I'll show you the way I know that we can get through this it's not too lateAll this time
We keep trying so hard but we can't get it right
I know the way to get through this
Just keep holding on and we'll find a way
I know that we can get through this, I'm not afraid
