Wind Up Boy

Toxic Lab Rats

We must break another silence, chase another day
Happiness and laughter is the color in your eyes
Infected by an omen, heavy chest an easy mind
We must run to the river, we can run through your town
And I hated to admit that I am so in love with you
That my language is broken and a part of me is true

I said, bye bye bye
So long for now
Any chance I might end up insane
What a nice surprise when a wind up boy
Lost his head and fell behind
Still my language is broken and this part of me is true

We can run to the river, we can run through your town
And I hated to admit that I am so in love with you
That my language is broken and this part of me is true

I said, bye bye bye
So long for now
Any chance I might end up insane
What a nice surprise when a wind up boy
Lost his head and fell behind
Still my language is broken and this part of me is true

We must break another silence, chase another day
Happiness and laughter is the color in your eyes
Infected by an omen, heavy chest an easy mind

I said, bye bye bye
So long for now
Any chance I might end up insane
What a nice surprise when a wind up boy
Lost his head and fell behind
Still my language is broken and this part of me is true

Lyrics submitted by Toxic Lab Rats.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/