Asking for the World

Strung Out

i'm not asking for that much i only want the truth when you tell me how you feel i'm not gonna play the games that make you feel like shit i'm not asking for the worldhow many times must we tell each other lies and separate our lives i wonder what went wrong i'm not askin' for that much just open honesty i'm not askin' for the worldwhen were young it's only fun it's just the chances that you take now we're grown up and we're fucked up and we make the same mistakes we keep repeating the same beating like it's not a choice to make and then we're lying and denying what we won't refuse to changei feel like i've been through so much shit so many dysfunctional relationships that i don't know what to feel anymore
i'm not asking for that much just be real with me i'm not asking for the world

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/