

Rescue Me

Krystal Meyers

Swallowing this hurt, making it lie down
I'm my strongest ally, living life as I know how
I'm carrying the weight of a world that sold me out
I'm running with my eyes closed, hoping you don't see this doubt I'm lost for words
I'm at a loss to tell you what I need
I know there's something more
God, help me to believe And all this time I thought the fight
The fight was only mine, I need to let you rescue me
I'm taking fire, I'm feeling tired
I'm tired of this fight, I need to let you rescue me I let it go to breathe, I can't take it anymore
I refuse to wake up one more time bleeding on the floor
I won't let myself hold back, I'll surrender what's inside
You become my healing tourniquet so I can feel alive I feel so exposed
I'm afraid to lose total control
With nothing left to hold
You reach for me and wouldn't let me go And all this time I thought the fight
The fight was only mine, I need to let you rescue me
I'm taking fire, I'm feeling tired
I'm tired of this fight, I need to let you rescue me And all this time I thought the fight
The fight was only mine, I need to let you rescue me
I'm taking fire, I'm feeling tired
I'm tired of this fight, I need to let you rescue me

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>