

All Because

Tree63

I want to set the story straight
It's time to tell the truth
I never could have come so far
If it were not for You You covered up my sin
 You covered up my silence
 You covered up my shame
 You made me new again It's all because of You
It's all because of You, You They tell me to abandon You
 To make my dreams come true
 So what am I supposed to do?
If I only dream of You You covered up my sin
 You covered up my silence
 You covered up my shame
 You made me new again It's all because of You
 It's all because of You It's all because of You, You
 It's all because of You It's all because of You, my love
It's all because, all because of You Yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah
 Yeah, yeah
 All because of You
 It's all because of You
 All that You were through
It's all because of You All because of You
 All because of You
 All because of You
