Cross Every River

Kym Marsh

as I sit here all quiet I wonder why were apart and the noise from the city cuts a hole thru the dark as the night time as fallen and the day flies away can you hear me I'm calling can you hear me I say and I would cross every river
I would sail every sea
I would climb every mountain if it would bring you back to me
I would part every ocean
I would catch every star
I would cross every river to be right where you are baby lower your shoulders and relax for a while you have been running for ages you have run all ur life but u know there will always be apart of u here so wherever life takes you you'll always be near
and I would cross every river

I would sail every sea
if it would bring you back to me
I would part every ocean
I would catch every star
to be wherever you are many thing I should have done many miles I should have run many fights I should have won and if the skies fall down 2nite and all is lost no hope in sight I think of you and I'm alright and I will....

I would sail every sea
if it would bring you back to me
I would catch every star
to be right where you are X2
