The Right

Lori Michaels

If I had the right
I would take you by the hand
Share with you my life, show you everything I am
If I had the right
Then I would tell you that I love you
I do
If I had the right
I would look into your eyes
Sweep away all your pain, from me you cannot hide
If I had the right
I would say everything is alright
Alright
If I had the right
You would never have to fear
Id be your guiding light
And love would never disappear
If I had the right-then
We could live this dream together, forever
Society would judge us and say that we were wrong
But is there anyone who can cast a stone?
Though I may never have you
Ill always love you..
If I had the right
I would take you by the hand
Share with you my life
Give you everything I can
If I had the right
Then I could love you
If I had the right
Then I could love you
If I had the rightthe rightthe right.then
I could love youthen I could love you
If I had the rightthe rightthe right
Just give me the right
So I can love you
I need to love you.love you
Please let me love you.
