

Before They Take You

Dead!

Rised up at thr crack of dawn
[?] lackey one
Went down to the morning sun
Continued our ife on the run
And we ride into the sunset
And burn our eyes
Sugar love it's no surprise
That I fell so hard when you empied
??? your in my heart
And we give and take chances
We should know better
We're getting pinned down by the dark and wether
As a thousand eyes get closer still I'd have you 'fore I let them thouch you
You know I will
Oh I will
Girl you know I will
Girl you know I
Girl you know I
Home is a place that I rarely know
And I know I swore I'll never go
But the burden of the city shines on me
(hey hey hey)
How could I have guessed what would become of all the things that I have done?
This last two years have moved so fast for me
(hey hey hey)Another night underneath these moonlit stars
A sip of whiskey is dure to help pass the time we spent talking about our town and people we used to be so tell me what we gain from living like this
It doesn't take wordsmith to fucking write this
I will always be hopeful to fall into pages of what I made
What I made
What I made
What I made
Home is a place that I rarely know
And I know I swore I'll never go
But the burden of the city shines on me
(hey hey hey)
How could I have guessed what would become of all the things that I have done?
This last two years have moved so fast for me
(hey hey hey)A drink for two and us alone

Our eyes meet from across the room
And he catches us with his stare he catches us with his stare
Our eyes divert to the door
And we'll run as fast as our feet will take us
And we'll run onto the street where there's 20 of his men
Girl I'll take this shot for you oh
Because girl I'll take this shot for you
Girl I'll take this shot for you
Girl I'll take this shot
Girl I'll take this shot(hey hey hey)Cause home is a place that I rarely know
And I know I swore I'll never go
But the burden of the city shines on me
(hey hey hey)
How could I have guessed what would become of all the things that I have done?
This last two years have moved so fast for me
(hey hey hey)They're never gonna catch us now
They're never gonna stop
Till we're fucking deadAnd after all that we've been through I'll still take this shot for you
I will always be there
This ain't how it ends
