Double Zero

Flotsam and Jetsam

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

Here comes the message from the antennae
Who knows how transmissions came
I've got the license, a bag of passports
Even I don't know who I amHowling bullets fly by so often
I can't hear them buzz
I've lived in deserts, I've warred on cities
I don't even know where I was, where I wasRemember Israel and Korea
Kuwait's the best time I ever had
Had an accomplice who knew of nothing
I killed the best friend I hadCan't be too careful, can't use computers
They're gonna catch my disease
I work alone, don't trust my own mother
Scratched out like ticks and fleasDial double zero
Call me whenever you have got a war
Home's where the guns are
My bed's the ammo and no one comes to my door
Dial double zero
Wherever you start a warMore of me going than I've got coming
They'll squeeze my blood through the skin
I shouldn't have wasted my education
The fucking trouble I'm inI've got your hat on, I've got your suitcase
I'm you when you're gone
Out here thinking like, hell
I'm never me too longDial double zero
Call me whenever you have got a war
Home's where the guns are
My bed's the ammo and no one comes to my door
Dial double zero
Wherever you start a war
