

Almost Heroes

People Corrupting People

Take a breath, look at the clock
Too early to sleep, too late to talk
Although, I'm bound to talk all night
Hyped up on too much amphetamine
Sick of being stuck in between
I'm tired and bored, it's a shame
I just want to reach fame

So here's another past due apology
From the person I am, to the person I used to be
He moved out, there's no doubt, gone away, that's ok
I didn't need his ass anyway
So I'll spend some more money at the liquor store
Taking the steps I took a million times before
It's to our tiny hopes we cling,
Wishing for something to get us by

It's these things that drive me crazy
My thoughts all scattered and my mind a bit hazy
I gotta get out, I'm leaving today
We are, we're almost heroes

Real music sucks, and I know
I should give in to the cool EDM show
But I can't give up so fucking easily
All your DJs say, say the same damn thing â€œBuy our records cuz we're attractive
And forget the fact that we can't sing"

It's these things that drive me crazy
My thoughts all scattered and my mind a bit hazy
I've gotta get out, I'm leaving today
We're, we're almost heroes

We keep on reaching out for fame
(But it's always out of our reach)
And one can't help but go insane
(Walkin' up and down these streets)
And as I walk around this fucking town
I wonder how it still gets me down

To see another person drive away
To a better and brighter day

It's these things that drive me crazy
My thoughts all scattered and my mind a bit hazy
I've gotta get out, I'm leaving today
We're, we're almost heroes
And you'd think that I'd have made some convictions
In this life that's been torn up by my restrictions
I've gotta get out, and I just might someday
We are
We're almost heroes!

Lyrics Submitted by People Corrupting People

Lyrics provided by <https://damlyrics.com/>