

Change the World

This Beautiful Republic

I'm finding it hard, hard to take
Mistakes we have made
Ignoring the ones that we hold dear
Out of selfishness All these things distract our eyes
And steal our time Why do we keep fighting
Saying every thing's alright?
We all see the same things
Why can't we stand side by side?
If we love each other we can change the world I'm learning to take the smallest steps
And making a way
Can You take anymore?
Can You stand by while our world crashes down? Be the spark, forsake your pride
And set things right Why do we keep fighting
Saying every thing's alright?
We all see the same things
Why can't we stand side by side?
If we love each other we can change the world
