Evil Eye

Brian Protheroe

Evil Eye

In a tumble-down of moon-dust and the rain was falling fast and a panther started crawling â€˜round the bend There was Len and there was Cherry and the Pope was making merry Signing papal bulls while chatting to a friend

In a bluster of confusion down the red-brick colonnade came a crowd of martyred saints with all their wives Life is short, but life is happy:
You can dance, but make it snappy Or youâ€™ll finish with a stomach full of knives

Evil Eye, evil oh
Now you see it, now you donâ€™t
Turn it â€˜round, flying down in the mirror

See a glimmer in the watch-glass and a shimmer in the lens See the telescopic flashing in the sky
Watch the Moon Manâ€™s ugly sister Watch the sun and see it blister
See the answer in the crackling of an eye

Evil Eye, evil oh
â€˜round the corner watch it go Asking why live a lie in the mirror
Evil Eye, evil oh
Leave a lie, live alone
Evil Eye, evil oh
