

Silence Is Broken

Damn Yankees

Never again you say the words
And let the sunshine in again
You can close your eyes
And know it's safe inside to sing you lullaby
Now I lay me down, you broke the chains
And you won't be silent anymore
Oh, no, now you're gonna shout about it
No, no more, yeah, yeah, this is the end
The silence is broken now
It's over now, the words have been spoken
And with every word you say, you blow away
The tears of another time
Face to face anyone can see you're not
The child you were before
Now, I lay you down, you take your place
No one can take away your heart
Oh, no, there can be no doubt about it
No, no more, yeah, yeah, this is the end
The silence is broken now
It's over now, the truth has been spoken
And with every word you say
You blow away, yeah
Never again you say the words
And let the sunshine in again
You can change the world
But no one can take away your heart
The silence is broken now
It's over now, the words have been spoken
And with every word you say, you blow away
The tears of another time
The silence is broken now
It's over now, the truth has been spoken
And with every word you say, you blow away
The scene of another crime

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>