Masterplanned

Soulwax

Sometimes I feel like walking away
Everything is everywhere and we think it's okay
I thought the journey was the point of the race but it seems the destination is taking its placeTry catching every moment you see Time is nothing to run out of it's just memories instant access to all things ever made while we're waiting for these numbers to blow us awayThis machine is taking all your cash
All the fun is happening somewhere else
The creator has a master plan
Now you have the world in your hand
Everybody has a right to forget Taking pleasure in the fact that you've nothing to share tell me how much does it cost when it's free Who can tell the story that only you would believeThis machine is taking all your cash
All the fun is happening somewhere else
The creator has a master plan
Now you have the world in your hand
Everything, everywhere, everyone is in on it
Everything, everywhere, everyone is in on it
Everything, everywhere, everyone is in on it
Everything, everywhere, everyone is in on it

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/