Ride On

Nocturnal Rites

Thundering down over valleys and hills
Onward they ride, always side by side
The legend tells about the templars,
The mighty men, who walk in the shadows
There's blood on their blades, swords made of steel
Guardians of man, always fight for the right
The legend speaks about their coming,
The mighty men, they live on forevermoreSee them ride, emerge out of the sun
They will vanish in haze
Hear them come, emerge out of dark
They will never give inRide on, through the winds of time
Ride on, through the nightLeaving their preys with a mark of the good
They hunt down in rage, veil them in death
In the name of the righteous, in justice
They will serve the gods
