Falling Away

Marion Raven

He comes to me
He comes to me and I'm already gone
He doesn't see
He doesn't see that we're hanging on
Blocking out the pieces of today
Trying to get back to yesterday
We're falling away
And there's nothing left but rain
No, there's nothing left here
All I hear is silence as I say
We're falling away, we're falling away
Falling away
I go to him
I go to him and he's not really there
We can't begin
We can't begin to go anywhere
All is done there's nothing left to say
Memories of his smile fade to gray
We're falling away

All I hear is silence as I say
We're falling away
And how can we care when it is so clear
That we're not ending up where we're supposed to be?
Let's just forget now, let's forget somehow
Let's not regret all the things that we used to be
My eyes still blur
My eyes still blur from refusing to see
I'm just not sure
I'm just not sure that we're meant to be
We're falling away
All I hear is silence as I say
We're falling away, we're falling away
All I hear is silence as I say
We're falling away, falling away

Falling away, falling away, falling away
