

I Like the Sunrise

Sutton Foster

I like the sunrise
Cause it brings a new day.
I like a new day
It brings new hope, they say. I like the sunrise
Blazing in the new sky.
Nighttime is weary,
Oh, and so am I. Every evening I wish upon a star
That my brand new bright tomorrow isn't very far.
When that heavy blue curtain of the night
Is raised up high, way out of sight; I like the sunrise
So heavenly to see.
I like the sunrise
I hope it likes poor me.
