

The D In Detroit

The Anniversary

Feeling the time peel away at my life again.

As memories combine, not sure where I've ever been.

'Cause it's the D in Detroit which scares me to no end. I'll count to ten.

When living this down makes so much sense. We collide - and onward we do fly

We collide - and onward we do fly

Onward - until we hit again. I kept your picture just behind the eye those weeks when our distance grew.

Drove north where I found you waiting in Des Moines - thank God I'm not losing you

And girl I hope you're not alone - and sleep through this weather

And girl I hope you're whole again - back home we'll sleep better. We collide - and onward we do fly

We collide - and onward we do fly
