Harder To Be

An Early Ending

Eyes too blind to see, am I awake or still asleep?
With a knife, your silhouette stands in front of me
But I cant find the wound from where I bleed
Or the will to wake from this dream
CHORUS
But its getting hard to be
Everything you want from me
Ill sail across the sea
I'm feeling somewhat incomplete
And with my conviction Ill flee
If the truth is not you and the lies arent me
Its the only way to define the lines we stand between
The words don't matter
They're like glass that's shattered
That we have to crawl across to find our way
CHORUS
To be everything you want from me
I'll sail across the sea
I'm feeling somewhat incomplete
With my conviction I'll flee
If only you would believe, this is reality
This is my, my final plea [x4]
To be everything you want from me
I'll sail across the sea
With my conviction I'll flee
If only you would believe
This is my final plea
