

The Fall

The Glass Child

You knew that I would fall for, fell for you
Did you see the way I fought for you, changed for you?
Never knew that love could be this much pain and misery And you know that I would stick to you, die for you
And the ways that I relied on you, needed you
You used to see same in me. Am I never gonna see you cry now
Am I never gonna ask you why, no
Am I never gonna hold you tight
when you're on your knees They're asleep and I am up all night
I see you every time I close my eyes
Oh I thought that you would wait for me,
Wait for me? Now I see that I went blind for you, hide the truth
Built us up inside my head as like I always do Panic hits when I wake up, you've already given up I'm walking faceless through the days
Since you've been gone I'm all a haze
I am barely hanging on
Tell me where did I go wrong Am I never gonna see you cry now
Am I never gonna ask you why, no
Am I never gonna hold you tight
when you're on your knees? They're asleep and I am up all night
I see you every time I close my eyes
Oh I thought that you would wait for me,
Wait for me. It is time to let this go
I'm done with this
I am barely hanging on
And they say walk on on your own
But it's all wrong Am I never gonna see you cry now
Am I never gonna ask you why, no
Am I never gonna hold you tight
when you're on your knees? They're asleep and I am up all night
I see you every time I close my eyes
Oh I thought that you would wait for me,
Wait for me.
