

A Little More Country Than That

Easton Corbin

Imagine a dirt road full of pot holes
With a creek bank and some cane poles
Catching channel cat
I'm a little more country than that Picture a small town with an old hound
Laying out front of the court house
While the old men chew the fat
I'm a little more country than that I just want to make sure you know
Just who you're getting under this old hat
'Cause girl I'm not the kind to two time or play games
Behind your back, I'm a little more country than that Think of a Hank song from days gone
With a steel ride that's so strong
It sends chills up your back
I'm a little more country than that If you want a brick home in a school zone
With the doors locked and alarms on
Girl, you're way off track
I'm a little more country than that I just want to make sure you know
Just who you're getting under this old hat
'Cause girl I'm not the kind to two time or play games
Behind your back, I'm a little more country Yeah, I'm sure that you've heard those three words
From others, but they fell flat
But this ring ain't some thing that I mean
To give you and then take back I'm a little more country than that
I'm a little more country than that
I'm a little more country than that
