It Isn't Just Raining

Pam Tillis

The first time I held you close in my arms
I was sure that our love could survive any storm
I wish I could say I still felt the same
And what's causing these blues is only the rainBut it isn't just raining, it's really coming down
The sun's not just hiding, it can't be found
And I'm more than just lonely
Tonight while you're running 'round
It isn't just raining, it's really coming downEach time I look out for a sign this will pass
All I see are tears on my face in the glass
'Cause you're out with her and I'm here alone
When you get back this time, I'll be gone'Cause it isn't just raining, it's really coming down
The sun's not just hiding, it can't be found
I'm more than just lonely
Tonight while you're running 'round
It isn't just raining, it's really coming down
