

Worthless

Point Of Grace

I woke up today with a revelation
An introduction to the truth
I knew the world was round
What goes up comes down
But maybe I
Finally got it figured out A moment is worthless, no meaning, purpose
Every breath is just wasted
If You are not the center of my world
Im just drifting, barely existing
'Cause every minute without You is worthless
Without You is worthless You know the state of my condition
And yet You hold me anyway
So I wont take a step
Unless its your direction
Where was I
Before I finally realized A moment is worthless, no meaning, purpose
Every breath is just wasted
If You are not the center of my world
Im just drifting, barely existing
'Cause every minute without You is worthless
Without You is worthless
Without You Theres a void in my heart
Where its empty and dark
Without You and Your love
Lord, Im broken apart
I surrender my life
To be right where You are Every moment is worthless, no meaning, purpose
Every breath is just wasted
If You are not the center of my world
Im just drifting, barely existing
'Cause every minute without
Every minute without You is worthless
Without You is worthless
Without You
