

Seven Prophecies

Centinex

[Music: Schulman]

[Lyrics: Schulman]Embalmed in a frozen tomb

Beneath the moon

I face the naked dawn

I stand still and stear

through out the river

A distant chant

returns me to the pastYou, my Goddess,

My queen of dark temptation

You feed my hunger

with black sinful loveFreezing lust to my infernal mistress

Seven prophecies forsooth eternally

Summon your blood,

my wine, dark erotica

Seven prophecies forsooth eternallySearching for a griefull pleasure

A shadow or a sign

from my coldest bride

Caressed by a guiding wind

Leads me away

to the horizon of tearsA burning vision,

they are my wings

Into the flames, I fly

I kissed the sunset,

I adored the night

A silent dance infront of meLike a portal with velvet lights

I am now one with moonlight

Like dragon shadows, like elves and stars

I sealed the grief in a dreamscapeLike illusions can fall apart

Like stones can turn to dust

The everblazing moon

can be darkened

Immortal is my passion

Despair and memories

Forever I will fill your existenceInto the deep horizon I fly

Searching for the new born dawn

You my Goddess,

My queen of dark temptation

One day we will forever sleep
