

How Many Times

The Proclaimers

Ooh ah, ooh ah, ooh ah, ooh ah, ooh ah,
Well it takes a long time, to find the right woman,
The best one around, not the best you can do,
Takes a long time to find the right woman,
Some men never do,
Spent half my life, lying to girls,
Who were looking for love, where it didn't exist,
The rest of the time, I was worrying myself,
About what it was, that'd I'd missed,

[Chorus:]

How many times?
I don't know, I don't know,
How many times?

I don't know, but when it happened, my heart started to go;
Ooh ah, ooh ah, ooh ah, ooh ah,
I didn't trust you from the moment I saw you,
I didn't trust you, and I know I was right,
My head and my heart have been fighting about,
And my heart starting winning last night,

[Chorus:]

Well I'm bored of my pain, and tired of sorrow,
Give me the word, and you'll see me tomorrow,
I don't give a damn about anything else,
The rest of the world can go and hang themselves!

Ooh

Ooh ah, ooh ah, ooh ah, ooh ah,
