

Country Baby

Makayla Lynn

sunsets in, campfires roar.
all the stars in the sky looking down on me.
grass stamp as we dance in moonlight.
theres no other place I'd, rather be.
flip flops and, old faded jeans.
theres no dress code when your way out here.
no bed times, and no routine.
all the words of the world seem to disappear.
I was raised to be a country girl.
and a country girl I'll always be.
you'll never take this out of me.
I came into this world as a country baby.
though I might end up, living in bright lights.
my heart will be here, something just wont feel right.
cause I'm a country baby.
guitar strums, and banjos heard.
seems everywhere you go theres music in the air.
join in if, you know the words.
and even if you don't no one else will care.
bullfrogs and, bright fireflies.
they help on the way when I'm heading home.
lay down and, turn out the lights.
sweet memories of the day fill my head day long.
I was raised to be a country girl.
and a country girl I'll always be.
you'll never take this out of me.
I came into this world as a country baby.
though I might end up, living in bright lights.
my heart will be here, something just wont feel right.
cause I'm a country baby.
and when the city get tempting, and I start to fear.
if this is where my heart belongs.
I'll think back to the beginning.
and it'll be clear,
this is a place that makes me strong.
you'll never take this out of me.
I came into this world as a country baby.
though I might end up, living in bright lights.
my heart will be here, something just wont feel right.

cause I'm a country baby.

Lyrics Submitted by Ali Beck

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>