Different

Thorne Empire

Ever since I could remember
Everything inside of me
Just wanted to be free
Never really fitting in
In the picture perfect frames my image didn't stay

I was never one for pretending
For playing part in others games
I didn't think that it would be easy
Didn't change a thing

If you can hear me now
I am reaching out
To tell you that I don't regret a thing
And if you can not tell
You should be scared
I am the regret that will hunt you until the end

I was never one for pretending
For playing a part in others games
More than once I might have hit the bottom
Occasionally might have been forgotten
But I have never given up
I kept holding on

Looking for an easy way out was not for me
Being different from the rest has set me free
And if I am a broken in their eyes - let it be
I am the best version I can be

And if they had turned heir backs on me
I will survive, and I will thrive
Being different from the rest
It made me feel alive

I am only a man
With a goal in life
I am taking a stand
I am only a man
But I will rule all the same

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/