

Bone House

The Dead Weather

I build a house for your bones
I build a house, I build a home
I build a house for your bones
I build a house, I build a home I wrote a song, go on and listen
That's all you'll hear when I go missing
I wrote a song, go on and listen
That's all you'll hear when I go missing I always get, I always get the things I want I make a nest for your hair
I lay you down, I lay you there
I build a ship, I sink or sail
And every tooth and every nail I always get the things I want
I always get the things I want
I always get the things I want
I always get the things I want I put your heart in a vault
That's how I get the things I want
I put your heart in a vault
That's how I get the things I want I lay a road for your mind
So your mind can go, go, go, go
I lay a road for your mind
So your mind can go, go, go, go I always get the things I want
I always get the things I want
I always get the things I want
I always get the things I want I build a house, I build a home
I build a house for your bones
I build a house for your bones
I build a house, I build a home
