

Hardships Are Ships

Alise Joste

high up above the highest cloud is where I long to be with the lightest breeze lifting me up and filling up each broken part in me and I sit there waiting patiently for the ships to sail out into the sea and I wait there endlessly though I know there's no ships, nor sea below me three white horses and a queen of hearts
it's a story that never quite starts and I watch it from afar my own destiny that lies in the stars
