Snowblind

Bromide

I think we're snowblind, we've had a hard time
And we can't see where we are
Spending our whole lives walking the same lines
And it doesn't seem to stop
This is our life, it's all that we get
The days are all numbered
And the nights are all spent, losing our focus
We're starting to drag, we're running in circles
And we start to feel bad
But it don't mean that this ain't right
We just both need a little more time
I think we're snowblind, we've had a hard time
And we can't see where we are
Spending our whole lives walking the same lines
And it doesn't seem to stop
He's taking my throat, you're melting my hands
You cause me to wonder as much as I can
I feel it all over, it's starting to lack
We're spinning our wheels so much
That it's hard to turn back
I think we're snowblind, we've had a hard time
And we can't see where we are
Spending our whole lives walking the same lines
And it doesn't seem to stop
Oh, but when the night falls down on this place
I will be the one to hold you
When the tears run down your face
I think we're snowblind, we've had a hard time
And we can't see where we are
Spending our whole lives walking the same lines
And it doesn't seem to stop
I think we're snowblind, we've had a hard time
And it doesn't seem to stop
I think we're snowblind, we've had a hard time
And it doesn't seem to stop
I think we're snowblind, we've had a hard time
We're snowblind, we're snowblind
