

Every Song I Sing

Chase Rice

In every song I sing, I just got to hail my King

He is the truth that lies within

In every song I sing, I just got to hail my King

He is the truth that lies within

The birds and the bees they cling

Together sweet honey they bring

Just notice everything

From winter to spring

He made the raindrops fall

He quench earth's thirst for all

How could I deny

Jah Rastafari

When them system fail

He keeps an eye on them

There's no question why

I hail Rastafari

In every song I sing, I just got to hail my King

He is the truth that lies within

In every song I sing, I just got to hail my King

He is the truth that lies within

Around Rastafari throne

That's where I wanna build my home

Where there's always love

And nothing to prove

Whether you are tall

Or whether you are small

Jah seh equal rights

And justice for us all

When them system fail

Jah keep an eye on them

There's no question why

I hail Rastafari

In every song I sing, I just got to hail my King

He is the truth that lies within

In every song I sing, I just got to hail my King

He is the truth and lies within

Around Rastafari throne

That's where I wanna build my home

Where there's always love

And nothing to prove
'Cause whether you are tall
'Cause whether you are small
Jah seh equal rights
And justice for us all
'Cause when them system fail
'Cause how could I deny
The Rastafari?

In every song I sing, I just got to hail my King
He is the truth that lies within
