

Here Tonight

Markku Mattila

Like millions of stars, there are millions of people

Looking for something

Looking for love

There was a time, when I felt no tenderness

Now I can touch Your skin

Hear You breathing Here tonight fire warms the room as the snowflakes fall down in the wind

Why should we hurry now, tomorrow comes as every year

All the coming years will be so safe to live with You on my side You came to my life and gave me hope

And now Your'e my woman

I don't need much more

All my bad memories are now fading away Here tonight fire warms the room as the snowflakes fall down in the wind

Why should we hurry now, tomorrow comes as every year

All the coming years will be so safe to live with You on my side
