

Sometime Later

Alpha

Touch my hand, it's only me, listen
I'm here, come to stand in sultry fields with you
And now, old dummy day, I know is over this way
I'm laughing, saw you gonna kiss me, you see
Yeah, as I said One day she won't, a lonely bird, alone
Judgment day saw the world, it's gone unheard
Sold the sea, a lot how it feels to me
I hate the word, it's sad to see, I take your weight And your heart fades away, today a renegade
To lay in woods by the pheasants
I mean it, you don't force on my head
Kill our nightmare. A lonely bird, a lonely bird
A lonely bird, a lonely bird
A lonely bird, alone Color me, cover me in the color that Reminds you solemnly, could make
The same mistake and you would never know
That I am, that I am alone, now Something, something, tells me that you
Have something on all of us now
You're Heaven, taking over me now
Color me hate, raw little nerve
Color me and pull us only home, me home Hold the sun down, hold the sun down
Hold the moon down, leave me to rest
Want the world, man, too the words out
Only relief is to slip through the nets Hold a minute and stop a minute
And go, oh, oh, hold a minute
You said to me, said to me and
Breath, breath, breath, breath, breath
You said it to me sometime later

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>