

Zatoichi

Every time I end up waking up
 In some hotel without my
 Set of keys
 Coming to, remembering the way
 Your turned me out when I was
 On my knees
 You think that was
 One up for you
 But I know I scored something too

When I see the way you have to struggle
 Just to do a little simple thing
 I feel apologetic
 Just because I'm not particularly suffering
 So I let you take me down
 I'm like your rent-a-clown

When I saw my baby cry
 I knew that he loved me
 That was some great victory
 He cried because of me
 He hit me with his belt
 But his tears were all I felt
 When I saw my baby cry
 I knew he loved me

When you try and cut me down
 And push me back
 If I attack your attitude
 I rise up to the challenge 'cause
 I like to taste the sugar of your violent mood
 Just like a stormy sea
 You're natural
 Poetry to me

When I saw my baby cry
 I knew that he loved me
 That was some great victory
 He cried because of me
 He hit me with his belt

But his tears were all I felt
When I saw my baby cry
I knew he loved me
I knew he loved me
