In Your Arms

Pathosray

Here I am, lost inside my thoughts.
My ears are glued to the wall.
Look at me, I'm socially estranged,
But you can see inside my soul.I free myself from the pride every man wants to keep.
I can see my tears falling down, reflected in your eyes.
Please hold me.I don't wanna give you my life,
And put my fate in your arms,
Show me the way to follow,
To avoid sorrow.Seasons are passing by, an emptiness remains,
I can't see blue skies, in the [future?].All I want to feel, stronger and secure, like the north wind.
You might refuge [to?] a place where I can sleep, and feel safe from the world.I don't wanna give you my life,
And put my fate in your arms,
Show me the way to follow,
To avoid sorrow.I set my heart on you and try to cry at all the smiling days, throw my fears away.
To [left me ???] cause I just wanna tell you, if you leave me, I wont follow again.I don't wanna give you my life,
And put my fate in your arms,
Show me the way to follow,
To avoid the sorrow.
And try to cry at all the smiling days, throw my fears away.
To [left me ???], if you leave me, I wont follow again, and again, to [left me ???].
And try to cry at all the smiling days, cause if you leave me I wont follow again.
